Attorneys Connor and Hankey Heard in Civil Superior Court, Most of the Day Being Taken Up With Testimony-Adjourned Until Next Tuesday.

The civil superior court was again because of Mrs. M. E. Aliyn vs. A. T. Micro, executor of the will of G. W. Comstock of New London. The end is in sight, however, as the testimony has been completed and two of the athorneys have made arguments, although the second has not completed his, but will do so in a short time next Tuesday morning, to which time next Tuesday morning, to which time had paid her for her work, in answer to a question by a sister of the witness. next Tuesday morning, to which time the court was adjourned at 4.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The resumption of the testimony of Dr. G. E. Bradford of New London was the first business of the court on Wednesday morning. He testified that Mr. Comstock has often asked him for his bill, but he told him that he need not worry about that, for if he (the doctor) died first there would be no bill, but if Mr. Comstock was the first to go there would be enough in his estate to pay the bill. He told of the visits he had made to Mr. Comstock, who had had part of one foot amputated, which foot healed, and later the other foot became affected. He did not know of any mortification of the foot until within a short time of Mr. Comstock's goath, his death having been hastened, he thought, by overeating at a reception.

The resumption of the testimony of Dr. G. E. Bradford of New London was the first business of the court on Wednesday morning. He testified that Mr. Comstock in 1965 when he was selling fruit in the east. He is now an inspector for the Canadian Pacific road, Mr. Comstock spoke to him about the dissingular and he intended to pay the Allyn what Mr. Comstock said. Mrs. Allyn what Mr. Comstock was settling with her. There was no smell except carbolic acid there. The witness said his wife, son and grandson are mentioned in the will. The will was drawn after his visit there. Mr. Comstock made no complaint of the treatment by the Allyns.

The testimony of New London who married a niece of Mr. Comstock, told of calling on Mr. Comstock in 1965 when he was selling fruit in the east. He is now an inspector for the Canadian Pacific road, Mr. Comstock spoke to him about the dissipation he had with the Baker family and he intended to pay the Allyn what Mr. Comstock said. Mrs. Allyn what Mr. Comstock was settling with her. There was no smell except carbolic acid there. The witness said his wife, son and grandson are mentioned in the will. The will was drawn after he other foot became affected. He did not know of any mortific eating at a reception.

That the house was in good order and did not smell bad and there were no bad odors was the testimony of May Denison.

Having visited Mr. Comstock twice a month for a period of three years, Mrs. Annie B. Painter of New London told of doing some housework for him, some mending and cooking. She knew of no had odor from his foot, but dur-ing the last two years of his life she did not visit there as often. He never said anything to her about Mrs. Al-Dr. Bradford on being recalled stat-

Dr. Bradford on being recalled stated that Mr. Comstock had once told him that Mrs. Painter and Mrs. Allyn had cleaned his house and he paid them $5 each for it.

Selectman Elmer E. Kenerson of New London told of selling Mr. Comstock wood once a week, and to delivering it up to within a year of his death. He had seen the sore foot, but there were no bad odors in the house. He had seen Mr. Comstock doing some cooking. His house looked like one

POSTUM CEREAL CO., LTD., Battle Creek, Mich.

After an illness lasting a year and a half, John A. Walker passed away on Wednesday morning at 8.15 o'clock, at his home in Block P, between North A and B streets. Death was due to a gradual hardening of his arteries.

Mr. Walker was a native of Scotland, the son of Robert and Marian Walker. On February 27, 43 years ago, he married Miss Agnes Hamition in Scotland, and some years later they came across the sea to Saco, Me, residing there about ten years. For a score of years Mr. and Mrs. Walker have made their home in Taftville, and have become well known and esteemed here, Mr. Walker attended the Congregational church regularly, and was a man of upright character and had many friends. He was employed in the finishing department of the Fonemah company until his illness forced him to give up work. He was a member of Tatt lodge No. 25 of United Workmen.

Mr. Walker is survived by his wife, who has tenderly cared for him during his illness, and two children, George Walker of San Francisco, Cal., employed in the government civil service as superintending constructor for the United States navy at the Union Iron Works in that city and Mrs. Jennie Works in that city, and Mrs. Jennie Davis of Saco, Me.

Burial will be in Saco, Me., Saturday, prayers being read at his late home tonight at 7 o'clock.

THANKSGIVING EVE SOCIALS. Taftville Pinochle Club.

Taftville Pinochle Club.

The Thanksgiving eve social of the Taftville Pinochle club went off in pleasing style Wednesday evening at Parish hall, and there were many couples on the floor to enjoy the excellently arranged programme of sixteen dances. President John D. Sharples filled the position of master of ceremonies in a creditable manner, assisted by Vice President George Havens and Edward D'Avignon was a capable floor director. The Norwich Dance and Concert orchestra gave music, Bennett prompted, and refreshments were served. The hall was effecticely decorated with strings of playing cards. Every one of the members of the club did something, but the credit for the success of the affair goes to the committee of arrangements—Frank Lafleur, Ermond Fontaine and Alfred Lillibridge.
